Abstract

Knowing the great religious leaders such as Abraham, help us to connect the religious with each other. For example categories of Abrahamic religions and non-Abrahamic religions can indicate the importance of this discussion. Abraham is the key to the connection between religions such as Judaism, Mandaeanism, Christine, Islam, etc. so, every data in this regard can lead to a better and more accurate recognition the great men. One of the researches that helps to understand the history of these leaders is the knowledge of their life and historical conditions. This paper tries to analyze the data obtained about the, birth time of Abraham in a scientific-research manner and based on historical findings. Now, it is available and can not be fully accepted, although the general acceptance is numerically around 2000 BC.
